Auto-Enrolment & You

As you may already be aware, auto-enrolment is now being rolled out to small businesses across the UK. Although the process can be opted out of in certain circumstances, it's still important to ensure your business' compliance at each stage; failure to do so can result in hefty recurring fines..

At My Accountancy Place, we've teamed up with the folks at the Workplace Advice Group to provide clients with initial and ongoing support for the implementation of pensions auto-enrolment in the workplace. Here's how it works (in 7 easy steps):

01 When your pensions auto-enrolment staging date approaches, we'll suggest talking to Workplace Advice Group. With your permission, we'll pass on your details.

02 Workplace Advice Group will then arrange an obligation free meeting with you, to discuss auto-enrolment, what you need to do as an employer, the consequences of non-compliance, associated fees and how Workplace Advice Group can help.

03 Workplace Advice Group will then send over a proposal, as well as an overview of what was discussed in the initial meeting.

04 If you'd like to proceed, Workplace Advice Group will then arrange a follow up conference call to obtain any data needed in order to complete the design and implementation of the employer's scheme.

05 An onsite staff presentation will then be arranged prior to the commencement of scheme membership, and all employer tasks will be resolved.

06 When it becomes time to fulfil your tri-annual auto-enrolment requirements, WAG will ensure you're prepared and compliant.

07 Employers will then be supported on an ongoing basis by WAG, including a formal annual governance meeting
